TECHNICAL NOTICE

The concentration of barrier material (polyamide) resulting from the body of this packaging in the French pool does not significantly change the overall concentration observed in the coloured stream. This overall concentration does not currently disrupt the main coloured PET packaging recycling streams available in Europe.

The components of the two-part closure system are easily separated by flotation and have no impact on PET recycling.

The dark green packaging is easy to identify visually. In the French system, it will continue to be channelled into the coloured PET stream for recycling.
